

Grandis Wines

Hunter Valley, NSW - Low Input & Organic Viticultures

Grandis is Shannon Burgess-Moore's lo-fi side hustle, a showcase of his inquisitive nature and progressive approach, with respect and understanding of the Hunter Valley's rich history and his roots in it.

Growing up in the Hunter, the family vineyard cultivated Shannon's passion for wine but never set him in its more traditional winemaking ways. He strives to experiment with alternate varieties and techniques, creating wines of intrigue and personality and true to his vinous love.

The Yin-Yang-inspired label communicates the balance of traditional and natural winemaking, along with the importance of balance in life as a whole for Shannon.
